

EULOGY FOR SUMMER OF 2015

The summer of 2015 was hot and filled with lots of sunshine.

Lazy days were spent relaxing and napping on the beach.

Kids, grandkids and relatives we barely know visited and stayed – and stayed – and stayed

Hamburgers were grilled and too much watermelon and ice cream was eaten

Sand was tracked in the car, the house, the washing machine, and the dryer

Now we have to put on our sweatshirts, long pants and give up our swimsuits and shorts

BUT we will never give up our flip flops!

School has begun, Halloween is almost here, then Thanksgiving, Christmas and a New Year begins.

Dearest summer of 2015, we will keep our fond memories of you in our hearts and minds while we wait with gleeful anticipation for the summer of 2016

Goodbye summer of 2015 – you were fantastic and we thank you.
